Notification of Spares Availability for 'original' Mantis

Vision Engineering Ltd is dedicated to supporting the service and repair needs of customers, and we continually strive to provide the best value in spares and services. Included in this commitment is the policy of supporting our 'no longer manufactured' products for as long as commercially possible. However, with diminishing demand for spares for the 'original' Mantis, it has become increasingly difficult to source and purchase a smaller volume of parts required to support this product forever.

Statement of Spares Availability

Vision Engineering Ltd is therefore pleased to announce the continued availability of main serviceable & consumable parts for 'original' Mantis stereo viewers for a 1 year period, as from 1st February 2009. After this date, this does not mean that spares & consumables will not be available; however this does mean they will be 'subject to availability'.

If you have any questions or concerns, please contact your local Vision Engineering representative to discuss your particular situation.

Worldwide Service Facilities

Please remember, Vision Engineering's worldwide service and support facilities can refurbish your 'original' Mantis, as well as all other Vision Engineering products.
